THE CAMPAIGN.

Nothing could have more thoroughly demonstrated the entire lack of any sound basis for the Democratic demand for the restoration of their party to power in this State, than the manner in which the campaign has been conducted by the men who now control the Democratic organization. We feel amply justified in declaring that nine-tenths of the more intelligent and respectable members of that party have become actually disgusted with the tirades of personal slander, the shallow inventions and the flood of billingsgate which the orators of the Democracy have substituted in place of anything like political argument during the present canvass. Thus far our opponents have relied solely upon abuse, and while presenting themselves before the public in this questionable shape, have urged but one plea, that of a "change," which would place our public affairs under the management of the leaders whose only proficiency has thus far been demonstrated in flagrant disloyalty in the past and a disregard of all the rules of decency in the present. We have reason to believe, and to the credit of our State population we are glad to be convinced, that there are many members of the Democratic party who emphatically deprecate the miserable course pursued by the spokesmen of the party, and who appreciate the fact that the intelligent people of Maine cannot be persuaded to throw over the organization which has given them eighteen years of good government, by exhibitions of the ill-regarded men of those who aspire to control.

The people of Maine are accustomed to think for themselves, and are not easily misled by the throwing of political dust. When the Democracy in State Convention ask for the old record, they remember the party record in 1868, and while they are subjected to every day find every Democratic meeting in Maine breaking out in choruses of indorsement of the rag money platform of Ohio and bestowing extravagant eulogy upon Pen Belton, the grand high-priest of Inflation and Repudiation. The thoughtful voter watches the competing of the Democrats with the temperance question, notes how carefully the issues pushed on the shelf at Augusta, and then listens to the Confederatorial candidate's emphatic declaration in his first public remarks, of unappeasable hostility to the laws for the suppression of intemperance and the protection of society against the ravages of rum. The same thoughtful voter has readily wondered at the information that the depression of business throughout the world, the damage to the crops by Western floods, the grass-hopper plague and the appearance of the army worm, are all attributable to the malign influence of ex-Speaker Blaine, and he has opened his eyes a little wider when told that the only thing which will prove a sovereign remedy for all the moral, commercial, financial and agricultural ills of the nation is to vote for Robertson. The thoughtful voter has carefully and good-naturedly inspected this Democratic campaigning and has concluded in the words of an eminent Democratic statesman that it is "too thin."

A reminder of the decadence of our shipbuilding interests brings also a reminder of those Democratic cruisers which strike so many ocean bon-fires of the staunch handiwork of our New England shipyards. And it also brings a reminder that the measures of encouragement which brought about the gradifying revival of that great industry were adopted by a Republican Congress in spite of persistent Democratic opposition. And looking a little farther it is perceived that the "change" which is recommended by those who wish to be transformed from "outs" to "ins" would indorse and empower the men who boldly advocate completing the work of Semmes & Co., by opening American registry to the vessels of every foreign country. The ship-carpenter of Maine cannot see how his adze is to be sharpened on that kind of a grind-stone.

On every important issue the party is found to be as hopelessly and stubbornly wrong as it was during the war, and the inability to slough off the notorious demagogues who have done most to bring it into disrepute, but who now have full sway, affords proof that the organization has no good or progressive tendency. The people of Maine understand this, and the result will be the election of Gen. Selden Connor by an old-fashioned majority, while the decisive triumph of General Plaisted in this District is as certain as the advent of election day. The sensible members of the Democratic party understand it also, and realize that the political "funeral" which their organs announced for last Wednesday has been "unavoidably postponed" until to-day, and is to be conducted within the Democratic household.

AN INVENTION. The Kennebec Journal says: "Eli Perkins has a perfect right to be as witless, as stupid and as vulgar as he pleases in his letters, but he has no right to impute his stupidities and vulgarities to other people. A recent letter of his purports to give a conversation between S. S. Cox and Speaker Blaine at Saratoga. There is not one word of truth in it from beginning to end. Mr. Cox and Mr. Blaine have not even met since the adjournment of Congress."

THE OUTLOOK.

[From the Portland Press.]

By reading the Commercial between the lines, one will not fail to see that the result of the District Convention at Bangor was a blow which demolished the long cherished hopes of the Democracy in that section. Mr. Madigan, of Houlton, is, after the manner of Democratic politicians, a sagacious man as well as a very pleasant one. He has, since Wednesday, scanned the Eastern political skies and concludes that it isn't worth while to be a candidate this year, which is equivalent to saying that it isn't a good year for autocrats; and James C. Madigan has passed that time of life when a man's vanity is tickled to see his name on a ticket sure to be defeated. Consequently Mr. Madigan's fellow Democrats will not come from Aroostook to the Democratic District Convention in "serried columns" but that portly and genial chieftain and the versatile Duke of Madawaska, Peter Charles Keegan, will be the only representatives of the party in the Convention. In fact, the "Aroostookshire" and the "serried columns" period of the Democratic campaign in Eastern Maine is passed, and it really begins to appear, to use the words of Gen. Roberts, that the yeomen of Maine were incapable of striking a blow for themselves," that figure of speech meant voting the Democratic ticket. Until last Tuesday the Democratic leaders in this county were quite sanguine of success, relying of course upon Republican dissensions as a means of victory. This element has vanished, and now they have to rely upon their efforts to get out a full party vote. In no part of the State will dissensions in our ranks afford the party the aid expected from that source.

The Democratic leaders, whatever they may profess, have no hope of success in Maine this year. They do hope, however, to reduce the average Republican majority, to gain three or four counties and demonstrate that the party is vigorous, and to use a figure of the Roberts-Emery order, standing in "battle array" for the Presidential campaign. The leaders are quietly at work to bring out a party vote. The rank and file does not easily "enthuse," but we must not suffer ourselves to indulge the idea that the Democrats will not show a full front this fall. Converts they will not make, but the old guard will rally in full strength.

Apprised of the purpose of their opponents, the Republicans should not fail to put forth every effort to bring out a full vote. This can best be done in the old way, viz.: by local organization and local efforts. The fact that we are on the eve of a Congressional Presidential election and that we are confronted by the same old foe, inspired by the same hopes and purposes which have led him to battle so desperately in the past, should incite every Republican to do his utmost in his locality to bring out a full party vote. Let us attend to this matter.

LETTER FROM AUGUSTA.

THE "STATE HOUSE" AFFAIR—A DEFENCE OF MR. WOODWARD.

AUGUSTA, August 6, 1875.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier

It is a source of surprise to thoughtful Republicans here in Kennebec that the WHIG AND COURIER should allow itself to be made the medium of misrepresentation and abuse of so valuable a citizen and Republican as Hon. Joseph F. Woodward. An unknown correspondent, "State House," wrote some weeks ago two letters, each making unwarranted attacks—personal, political and financial—on Mr. Woodward, on the occasion of his return to his native State. The erroneous statements were corrected by a letter over Mr. Woodward's own signature, and in the columns of the Augusta Journal. That these attacks were not instigated on account of friendship to Mr. Joseph G. Smith, a former clerk at the State House, is proved by the fact that Mr. Smith honestly and emphatically deprecates their appearance. His relations with Mr. Woodward are entirely pleasant, and he believes Mr. Woodward had nothing to do with his retirement from the secretary's office.

Last Saturday "State House" again resumed the attack upon Mr. Woodward and repeated several of his former misstatements.

Now Mr. Woodward was born here in Kennebec,—went to the war from here and returned here, suffering from honorable wounds received in battle; while still suffering from those wounds he was made Commissioner of Enrolment, and served the district honestly and efficiently in that capacity. He has been once, if not twice, elected Representative to the Legislature by his fellow townsmen, and twice elected state senator by the Republicans of Kennebec. He has been twice appointed State Librarian, but resigned at the beginning of his second term to engage in business in New York with our respected townsman, Col. M. V. B. Chase. During all the years of his life here in our midst, where his character has been best known and, where his acts, both public and private, have been under the inspection of sharp eyes, he has ever borne a very high reputation for integrity and honor, and has won multitudes of true friends—political and otherwise. His efficiency as an honest Republican worker is acknowledged by all who know him.

We fail to see how the attacks on Mr. Woodward, above referred to, can help elect Gen. Connor, which is the only work now before us,—or any other Republican to any office of trust.

ELVETON.

WHAT TROUBLES PILLSBURY.

The Oxford Democrat has published a very candid review of the recent passages between this paper and the Maine Statesman. It cites our reference to the historical fact of Pillsbury's having "limited resistance to the draft," his shouting of "slave" and our justification of our charge by quotations from his own utterances, of which latter it says: "The justification appears to have been unanswerable and remains unanswered. Those old quotations burnt like salt petre and poisoned like a copperhead." It gives a liberal specimen from Pillsbury's scurrilous personal attack upon us, also quoting our prompt refutation of the slander, and concludes as follows:

"The lesson is a most obvious one. If Mr. P., the Chairman of the State Democratic Committee and former candidate for Governor, did not obstruct the draft by his writings and speeches, why does he not show it by the same mode that others resort to in order to prove it? And why a scathing personal attack, alleging what now appears to be false? And, again, why is Mr Blaine the head and front of all attacks and every other republican in the state accused of being a thief and one of his "minions?" Is this legitimate, candid or decent political information or argument? Two things trouble the editor of the Maine Standard: Mr. Blaine, and his own conduct through the war. If he did not associate all republicans as Blaine's fawning junto, set in motion by his order, we could remain a silent spectator and hold our peace. But as it is, silence is assent, and consequently is neither right nor just. It is well known why these attacks—individual and general—have been made. Mr. Blaine has been instrumental in defeating Mr. Pillsbury in his political aspirations. Hence his personal rancor. His own record has simply assisted Mr. Blaine in this result. And it remains only to be said that if a man opposed a war to save the life of a nation and openly avowed his preference for its enemies who treacherously attempted to destroy it, he must prove his patriotism or take the consequences."

TELEGRAPH ADVANCE.

By mutual agreement the Western Union and Atlantic and Pacific Telegraph Co.'s have decided to advance the rates between Boston and Washington and New York and Albany 20 per cent. The advance went into effect Monday Aug. 16.

THE NATIONAL FINANCES.

The Boston Journal's Washington special says the Treasury accounting officers have just completed the national balance sheet for the fiscal year ending June 30. Six weeks time after the expiration of the fiscal year are always required to receive the returns from the Pacific coast. This statement will be a gratifying exhibit for those who labored for economy in the last Congress, and will be a corresponding disappointment to the croakers. There is no deficit, as was predicted in some of the speeches on the budget, yet the receipts exceedes the expenditures by the relatively small margin of $13,376,658. It is manifest that but for the practice of the rigid economy adopted at the last two sessions of Congress the predicted deficit would have been made.

The balance yet shows that the revenues of the Government were $5,681,761 greater than the estimates made by the Treasury in November last, and that the expenses were $692,096 less than the estimates. More encouraging that the excess of receipts is the fact that the expenditures for the last year were less than for any fiscal year since the first war year, 1861.

The following is a comprehensive summary of the receipts and disbursements by warrants for the last fiscal year: Net receipts—customs, $157,167,722; internal revenue, $110,007,493; sales of public lands, $7,419,649; miscellaneous sources, $19,411,135. Total net receipts, $288,000,051. Net expenditures—civil and miscellaneous, $71,070,702; War Department, $41,120,035; Navy Department, $21,497,036; Indians and Pensions, $37,840,973; interest on public debt, $103,008,544. Total net ordinary expenditures, $274,622,233.

VASSALBORO' LOBSTERS. We have received a note from Orrick Hawes, Esq., of Vassalboro', to whom reference was made in the letter of our correspondent "Ticonic," in which Mr. Hawes requests us to publish as a matter of justice to himself a report which he sends of the proceedings at the Republican caucus held in Vassalboro', on Saturday last. The portions of the report which concern Mr. Hawes are the fact of his selection as a delegate to the Kennebec County Convention, and that after the reading of the communication published in this paper the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we, the Republicans of Vassalboro', in caucus assembled, hereby express our entire confidence in the integrity of our fellow-citizen Orrick Hawes, denounce as false and infamous the reports put in circulation touching his conduct in connection with alleged frauds in filling the efforts of this town, and we instruct our delegates to the County Convention to support him for renomination as County Commissioner.

(Signed) D. C. PERKINS, Clerk of caucus.

Having given the above it becomes a matter of equal justice to our correspondent to state that his charge was simply that Mr. Hawes, as the agent of the town of Vassalboro' "bought thirty-five paper men from Pike and Delany and paid fourteen thousand five hundred dollars" of Vassalboro's money therefor." As Mr. Hawes, himself, test fied to these facts before the Paper Credit Commissioners, we do not see how the importation of "false and infamous reports" can be laid upon our very plain-spoken correspondent. A statement of extenuating circumstances might be in order, but der unckation of admitted facts will hardly satisfy such a sturdy old yeoman as "Ticonic."

MR. ALBERT MOORE ON THE WITNESS STAND.

[From the Kennebec Journal.]

Mr. Albert Moore in his paper this week makes the following sneaking admission about "Paper Credits:"

"It is true, we admit, that after conferring with the Adjutant General, Provost Marshal and other military officials, Austin bought of J. H. Manley and the "paper credit" ring names, (not men) to fill the quota of Anson."

That would do Mr. MOORE. You can't play the "Joe Manley" dodge. Every time a Democrat is caught in this and paper men of the Paper Credit swindle, he shouts "Joe Manley." According to your own sworn testimony before the Commissioners on Paper Credits you bought thirteen paper men of Geo. M. Delany and paid him SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS each therefor. And you bought paper men of Daniel T. Pike and paid him TWO THOUSAND SEVEN HUNDRED DOLLARS therefor. And these two sums make up the SIX THOUSAND FIVE HUNDRED DOLLARS of Anson's money that you expended for fraudulent paper credits. This is your own admission a test mony that you were very reluctantly forced to give before the Paper Credit Commissioners. Now Pike and Delany are well known Democrats. You could not buy with Democrats. And shouting Joe Manley won't help you out of your scrape. It only convicts you of a fresh and gratuitous falsehood.

Nor can Mr. Albert Moore escape the charge that he certified that these men were persons resident or liable to military duty in the town of Anson," or words to that effect. He could only get them credited by so certifying. Also the mustering officers should have taken his word for the truth. It cost the town of Anson TEN THOUSAND TO SIX HUNDRED DOLLARS.

The N. H. Gazette gives the following address recently delivered at the funeral of a San Francisco type-setter:

"Our brother, Mr. John Herlin, is dead. His last letter is distributed, his case is emptied, his stick is full, the last line is spaced out, and the clicking of the types is no more heard in his hand. A paragraph is made, a period put in, his last proof is taken, his galley cleared. His form is made up, and lies upon the cold imposing-stone, silent, lifeless. His matts are set in diamond and pied, so that no more proof can be taken. His virtues are set in stereotype plates, colored, framed, and hung on the walls of memory, never to be forgotten. Be warned and be ready. Correct at your proof."

Married in early youth to the husband of her choice, she nobly did her part in the duties of wife and mother. All her duties were accepted with unwavering fidelity, and her home was to her husband, and her husband and home with patience, and no murmuring escaped her lips. Never was a wife blessed with a more devoted husband. Two interesting children are the early deprived of the mother's fostering care. Her sickness was of but a few months' duration, and she passed away with the full assurance of a blessed immortality. Her funeral occurred on the following Sabbath, when the large audience present showed the fearful inroads which death has made in the midst of this community. Her husband, children and friends have the sympathy of the whole community in their great bereavement. Her remains were taken to Bangor for interment.

The M. C. R. R. have recently issued through tickets from Bangor to all points west over all routes. This will be a great accomodation to travellers, as it will avoid re-checking baggage and the frequent purchase of tickets. The entire ticket is good for all transfers. It is a benefit to the road, inasmuch as it gives them the use of the money.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL BUILDING. The workmen on the new Grammar School building have been delayed by the non-arrival of the window-caps. The parties agreed to furnish the stone have been embarrassed by business difficulties. The delays will prevent the completion of the building at the appointed time in the contract. It is hoped that no further delays will be experienced.

THE FIRE INQUEST. The inquest on the fire in Pickering square, which opened on Saturday, was continued yesterday, and the testimony closed. The proceedings, as has already been stated, were directed against Mr. Thurlough who occupied one of the stores in the burned block. The evidence clearly exonerates him, he having conclusively proved an alibi. It is not shown clearly by the evidence that there was ground for the suspicion of incendiarism.

S. S. Patten has removed from No 76 Main street to the store on Broad street, formerly occupied as a drug-store by Noyes Ames.

The Union Hose Company has been presented with $20, an expression of appreciation for their valuable efforts in the late fire in Brewer.

Workmen have placed a new water-valve on the Babcock. Now, by using the pump, a stream of water only may be played.

There was a slight row on Hancock street Sunday night. The same evening a drunken wretch was found beating his wife on Patten street.

Sunday, some rascals cut the anub-lines of W. T. Pearson & Co., and Babb & Strickland's rafts. The damage was very slight.

George Hennessey, arrested for drunkenness, cleared out without paying a fine some time since. He has been re-arrested.

A merry party of ladies and gentlemen rowed up Kenduskeag stream last evening, some of them singing sweetly, their fine voices attracting quite a gathering of listeners on the bridge.

As will be seen by the advertisement in another column, the E. & N. A. Railway Co., and barge Chgord offer excursion tickets to the Northport campmeeting at very low rates.

The Bangor Burnetizing Works sent a cargo of shooks to Boston, yesterday, by steamer Cambridge. They are of shingling pine, and will make boxes 20½ by 11 inches in size.

A remonstrance against the building of the new bridge at Six-Mile Falls has been drawn up and signed by about one hundred persons. It will be laid before the next meeting of the City Government.

As will be seen by our report of the meeting of the City Government last evening, Messrs. Hall, Hamblen, Lord and Simmons have been appointed a committee to confer with a committee from the Board of Aldermen.

A LIGHT HEART,

A CLEAR COMPLEXION,

BRIGHT EYES,

The bright result of all who use
Dirigo Bitters, which purify the blood from their sluggish banks and flush the countenance like
Rushing and rubies, dunkhead brown.

Buttons and trees their lusty hands
Clap, as each drop their surface pats,—
The early hemlock, twinkling, stands
Like Pyrrho in a vase of gems

Under the rumbling cart that stoops
To drink the pool that puddles round,
Drawn to our elements of hops
The cauliflowers, a liquid decorated

Dame Partlet in her betrothed birds
She kindly by and presses her breast,—
While poor, drenched Tabby peevish mews
Beneath the woodshed's dripping nest.

Within the dusky half light there,
Sewing-up pigeons pink the walls,
There leans the spade, and plants the share,
Dull grins the rake, the buck saw glows

Mouse-eared acorn is wander in the breeze,
Mixed with the garden's diamond sweets,
And the wet fragrance of the trees,
The rainy fall rests ceaseless beats

The ducks roll up delighted eyes
All talk as ended, their feathers shake,
Even seal to sleep, when hark one spies
Way on the flowing cistern's lake

The cow stands swinging weak her cud,
And wistful eyes the meadow near,—
While Whitey shows in mist a thud
Impalement of his stable drear

And still gray vassels wreak the air,
And rumble still cart, barn, and shed —
Rain weary rain, falls everywhere,
And nature drenched looks dull and dead

How desolate the sodden field!
The rubbing hands dank and dark,—
The fire's firm bought no covert yield,
Though cursing, mist-phrensied the bark

From the wet stack the vapors bring —
Within, yarn smirks warm and dry,
Where Belinda shatters sleek and sunk,
Protected from the frowning sky

The cottage door, swung open shows
The mackerel dusk scene within
The grandsire, where the chimney glows,
Puts purs, and frets the grandcat knits

The tooting grandchild rules the dog,
Or strokes him whimpering with his whip,
Spurs yelps when fed on by the logs,
Then opts and starts and bites his lip

There ticks the clock with endless swing,
The wood chairs gleam in crimson gloss
The kittens gambols with the cruiser,
While the domed drops the pence coalesce

The rainy day, though loveable
Prophesies still to morrow's light —
Like tears of sorrow that create
The bow which naked all nature is right

VEGETINE

strikes at the root of hereditary humors, by purifying the blood, restoring the liver and kidneys to healthy action, invigorating the nervous system.

VEGETINE

Is not a vile, nauseous compound, which simply purges the bowels, but a safe, pleasant remedy which is sure to purify the blood and thereby restore the health

VEGETINE

Is now prescribed in cases of scrofula and other diseases of the blood, by many of the best physicians since it is the great success in curing all the cases of it is more

VEGETINE.

Does not like an unreliable and false hope by purging and creating a delusive appetite, but assists nature in clearing and purifying the whole system, leading the patient gradually to perfect health.

VEGETINE

Has been used upon an experiment for some time by some of our best physicians, but those most conversant in regard to its merit are now its most ardent friends and supporters

VEGETINE

Unlike that of being a puffed-up medicine has worked its way up to its present astonishing success by actual merit in curing all diseases of the blood, of whatever nature

VEGETINE

Saves a Hundred Lives Has no equal as a blood purifier. Hearing of its many wonderful cures, after all other remedies had failed, I obtained the latter story and convinced my self of its possibilities. It is prepared from roots, roots and herbs, each of which is highly effective, and they are compounded in such a manner as to produce unparalleled results

VEGETINE

It is acknowledged and recommended by physicians as the most reliable and effectual, and thousands speak in its praise who have been restored to health
